Mr. Holen Gao,
Secretary General of International Telecommunication Union
(ITU)

The House of Representatives of the Republic of Yemen is pleased to send you the best regards and through you to all members of the ITU.

We would like to inform you that we have followed with interest the decision adopted by the illegal government of Hadi, which states that the headquarters of TeleYemen transfers to Aden and a CEO is appointed for it. These are illegal measures and destructive steps of Yemen's capabilities carried out by this false government, including:

1. Establishing and duplicating an international gateway, Internet and data transmission network.
2. Illegally acquiring capacities from the submarine cable.
3. Shutting down the submarine cable
4. Introducing communication and Internet projects in Aden.
5. Attempting to seize Teleman's balances and debts in local, Arab and international banks.

These arbitrary measures will have a devastating effect on the daily life of the Yemeni citizens in the northern regions, who amounts to 75% of the total population of Yemen.

In addition, such measures will be considered an additional tragedy to the daily suffering of citizens who have been suffering from a land, sea and air blockade in addition to the aggression of a barbaric criminal and economic war since March 2015.

We would like to emphasize that dealing with these measures will have a devastating impact on the humanitarian situation in Yemen and will further isolate the Yemeni citizen from the world.

This step is in violation of the Constitution of the ITU and the International Agreements between our countries and the ITU, ratified in Geneva in 1992, and remind you of the most important goals contained in the Constitution of the ITU:

1. (B) To promote and provide technical assistance in the field of communications to developing countries, as well as to promote the mobilization of material, human and material resources for their implementation, as well as to promote access to information.

2. (D) To seek to deliver the benefits of new technologies in communications to all the world's people.
3. (E) To promote the use of telecommunications services to facilitate peaceful relations.

We hope that you will not deal with these decisions in any way for the benefit of the Yemeni people.

Best regards,

Yahya Ali Al-Ra'i
